Here you will see announcements important to users under the "Important Information" heading. From this main page, all users may access the features of the site that apply to them.

There are three main types of users:

-  UConn Students: Students seeking jobs on the Student Labor and Work-Study payrolls will be able to view available jobs. Only UConn students will have the capability to apply online.
-  University Employers: Departments on-campus who wish to post Student Labor and Work-Study jobs may do so after they receive log-in permission from Student Employment (see page 5 for information on obtaining log-in access).
-  Non-University Employers: Off-campus private non-profit, municipal, and state agencies seeking to employ Work-Study students in community service positions may request access to the site if they have an active Work-Study contract with the University, access to internet and email capabilities, and have a designated contact person who will review applications on a regular basis. (see page 5 for information on obtaining log-in access)

Off-campus private non-profit, municipal, and state agencies who do NOT have a current Work-Study contract with the University may contact Student Employment by phone or via the website to obtain information about the Work-Study program at UConn. Private, for-profit companies seeking student employees may use the site to link to UConn's Career Services Department to obtain information about how to post their positions on that site.

Each user type (described previously) has its own special homepage. From the left-side navigation bar on the main page of the site, employers should select the employer type that applies to them (University Employer or Non-University Employer). You will then see one of these two screens:

Listed, Pending Approval, Review, and Storage...

What do all of these terms mean?!?

A job's status is defined in one of four ways:

 Listed – The job has been approved by Student Employment and is currently posted among the list of available jobs. Students may search and apply for this job. Any change made to the job must be submitted again for approval. Departments may use this status when posting a job to indicate that they wish for Student Employment to approve the job for online posting.

 Pending Approval – The job has been submitted for approval to Student Employment. The primary and secondary contacts will be notified once it is approved and its status changed to Listed. Any change made to the job prior to its final approval must be resubmitted to Student Employment.

 Review – The job has been temporarily de-listed from the website, and students may no longer view and/or apply for it. The associated applications, however, are still available for review and hiring. (The UConn policy mandates retention of job applications of interviewed students for a period of 3 years, so please remember to print them out.)

For example, you may move a job into Review mode once you have posted the position for 14 days, if you are satisfied with the applications you have received, but still want time to review them before hiring a student. Because applications may be stored in Review, this mode is the recommended way to store previously-posted jobs for the short term (until the candidate you hired has actually started working). A job in Review mode may be re-posted, though any changes must be resubmitted for approval by Student Employment.

 Storage – The job has been de-listed from the website, is not viewable, and any associated student applications have been deleted. Details of the job posting are saved as is the blank application template approved for that job. A job is typically moved into Storage after hiring is completed, the job is closed, and your newly-hired student employee has had a successful start. A job in Storage may be re-posted with approval from Student Employment – a good way to save time, for instance, if the same job is posted each semester.

Post a New Job

Posting a new job is a five-step process. In a nutshell, you create the job profile, edit the job's application if desired (based on the University's standard application), and follow the steps to submit the job for approval and posting. The website will walk you through each one of these steps.

To post a job, follow these directions:

- 1 ▶ From My Control Panel, click Add a new job for [Your Employer Name] to open the Job Profile form (see page 7 for My Control Panel details).

NOTE: If you are assigned to more than one employer, you must first select an employer from the Filter Employer pull-down menu, and then the Add a new job link will appear. If you are assigned to only one employer, this link will already be visible.

- 2 ▶ Complete the Job Profile. Examples of the Job Profile form and descriptions of the fields are located here and on the following page:

Category – Select the category that best describes nature of the job. Students may search for jobs by category.

Job Title – Select a specific job title, e.g. "Student Clerical Specialist."

Pay Range – Select a wage that is within the range associated with the job classification. Student Employment will verify that the wage range is consistent with the level of responsibility for the job posted. If you have questions or concerns about the wage, contact Student Employment.

Funding Source(s) – Select the funding source for the job by highlighting the available source, then clicking "Add". If you have

In order to meet the requirements of affirmative action and equal opportunity and the University's policy, all available positions must be advertised via the Office of Student Financial Aid Services – Student Employment for at least a two-week period. Supervisors who are rehiring former student employees, and who are NOT seeking new candidates for their available position(s), are not required to advertise.

By selecting the option below, I attest that I have read and understand the University's policy on Employment and Contracting for Services of Relatives. I further understand that under no circumstances will the University approve the employment of dependent children or step-children as student employees under direct or indirect supervisory relationships, and I will not hire an employee that is in the direct or indirect line of supervision of a relative working in another University position. Please contact Student Employment with questions regarding this policy.

The job title is 'Student Administrative Specialist II', the employer is 'Financial Aid (including Student Employment)', and the status is 'Listed'. Below this table, there's a section titled 'Additional details about this job's status:' with two bullet points: '» This job is currently listed on the site.' and '» It is set to de-list 1 week and 1 day from now.'

Below the details section, there are four main panels:

- Update Status: This panel has three buttons: 'Listed' (with a tooltip: '» Current Status -- Click to update remaining days listed on site'), 'Review Mode' (with a tooltip: '» Click to change to'), and 'Storage' (with a tooltip: '» Click to change to').
- Manage Application: This panel contains the text 'This job is configured to collect online applications.' and a link: '» Edit, view or remove the online application.'
- View Applicants: This panel shows '1 application has been submitted for this job, 0 of which are new.' and a link: '» View Applications'.
